

Growing Up in a non-Muslim Environment – Struggles of Youth and Parents

By Dr. Mohammed Sadiq

- Most of us came to these non-Muslim countries to materialize our worldly dreams or for safety and security.
- None of us perhaps thought about the down side of it and the price we might have to pay for our material freedom.
- Most of us realized the cost after it was too late and our moral and ethical bank balance started to deplete very quickly.
- Our parents and our youth are suffering from tremendous anxiety and a great sense of loss.
- Most of us feel like a fly being stuck in a spider's web that won't let go.

This seminar is designed for Muslim Communities living in North America and other western countries. Its goals are to identify the factors responsible for our struggles in these non-Muslim countries, and to suggest ways to cope with the continuous pressures we live under.
